About the Data

The Occupational Employment Statistics (OES) program is the product of a partnership between the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) and State Workforce Agencies. This program provides cross-industry estimates of occupational employment and wages for multiple geographical levels.

Methodology and Data Sources

Data on wage and salary workers, including part-time workers, are collected through a semiannual survey, and the most recent six panels (covering three years) are aggregated, resulting in a total sample size of 1.2 million establishments. Data from this survey are then used to produce estimates for roughly 800 occupations and more than 450 industry sectors nationwide. The data set does not include self-employed persons, private household employers, or farm establishments.
