SOUTH JERSEY BUSINESS

Second Quarter 2020

The region's economy experienced overall declines in business activity for the second consecutive quarter, reflecting the effects of the pandemic and state-mandated closings, according to firms responding to the South Jersey Business Survey. The survey's indicators of overall company activity and sales moved away from the historical low readings in the first quarter but remained negative in the second quarter. The survey's indicators for future activity showed notable improvements, suggesting that the firms expect growth over the next six months.

Current Indicators Remain Negative

The survey's diffusion indexes — which convey the direction and breadth of change but not the magnitude - for company activity and sales remained negative but rose from record lows in the first quarter (see Charts 1-3 on page 2). The survey's measure of individual company activity increased from a low reading of -45.3 in the first quarter to -5.6 in the second quarter. The percentage of firms reporting decreased activity at their companies (41 percent) remained higher than the percentage of firms reporting increased activity (36 percent). The current sales index remained negative at -13.6 but also increased from a record low in the first quarter.
